

Individual Contributor Career Ladder

Five competencies mapped across P1 – P5 levels

COMPETENCY & description	P1 Associate / Coordinator	P2 Specialist	P3 Senior / IC Manager	P4 Staff / Lead / IC Sr. Manager	P5 Principal / IC Director
Expertise General experience and knowledge necessary for the level	You are developing the core skills needed for this role because you are doing it for the first time. You work closely with your direct manager and are given detailed direction.	You are a meaningful contributor across a wide range of tasks under direct supervision. You have the functional core skills needed for the role.	You have strong core skills needed for the role. You are a significant contributor under minimal direction. You are seen as an expert in at least one area.	You have the fully developed core skills needed for the role. You can lead major projects or initiatives with minimal direction.	You have superior core skills needed for the role. You are an expert in your field and can lead multiple major projects while mentoring others.
Scope of Influence Who you work with daily, the autonomy you have, and the complexity of your work	You work closely with your manager and more senior members of your team. The impact of your work is felt on pieces of projects.	Your work directly impacts your team, and potentially a few others when projects overlap. You maintain existing processes or features.	You partner with peers and managers across multiple functions. You work on increasingly complex projects that impact entire departments.	You partner with peers and strategize with senior leaders, and you are known as a functional leader.	You have the influence to work across the entire business and are recognized by all as an impactful contributor.
Delivering Results Your day-to-day. Your ability to apply strategic thinking to your work	You are learning how to approach your work, gather feedback, and prioritize tasks. You check in frequently with your manager or senior team members.	You drive clearly defined small projects to completion. You are starting to estimate the time and effort it takes to complete your tasks.	You define and break work into logical pieces, resolving problems as they occur. You are seen as a role model for quality on your team.	You assess costs and tradeoffs. You anticipate future problems and own solutions. You actively contribute to your team's strategy.	You drive and own complex decisions that impact the entire business. You manage solutions for vague or ambiguous problems and identify metrics as measures of success.

COMPETENCY & description	P1 Associate / Coordinator	P2 Specialist	P3 Senior / IC Manager	P4 Staff / Lead / IC Sr. Manager	P5 Principal / IC Director
Teamwork & Communication Your ability to write, speak, and collaborate	You effectively communicate progress and status updates to your team. You are developing your ability to give feedback to your peers.	You collaborate effectively and provide quality feedback to your manager and team. You demonstrate the autonomy it takes to be successful in a remote role.	You proactively seek feedback and are open to constructive criticism. You lead group conversations around complex problems and mentor others.	You are seen as a go-to person who provides guidance across the team. You improve how your team communicates by defining processes and best practices.	You distill complex topics into simple language anyone can understand. You create a safe environment for participation and are a respected communicator across the business.
Values & Guiding Principles The ability to understand, demonstrate, and apply company values to your work	You understand company values and demonstrate them through your behaviors.	You exemplify company values and you are able to identify corresponding behaviors in others.	You exemplify company values and actively encourage others to demonstrate them.	You exemplify company values and hold others accountable by promoting and celebrating corresponding behaviors.	You are a role model and culture leader who exemplifies core values.